

Strong Member Engagement Continues Through the First Half of 2026

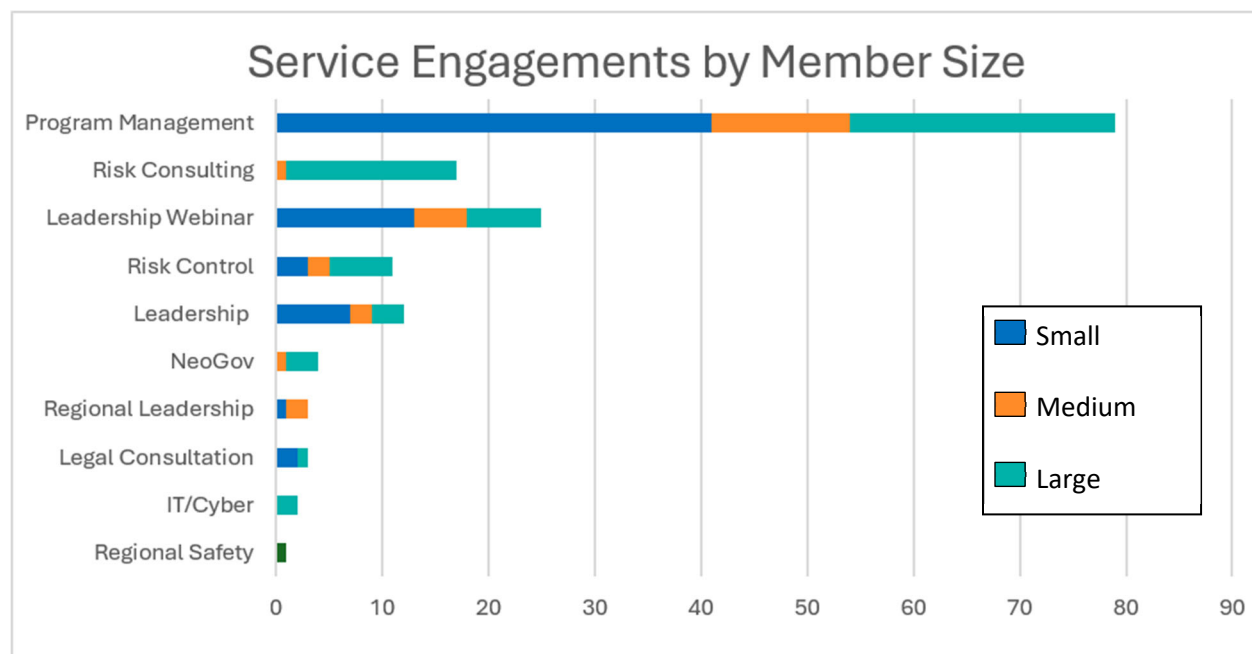

The first six months of 2026 have been busy across the TCRMF membership, with centers taking advantage of a wide range of Fund services and resources. From leadership development and safety education to risk management consulting and cyber tabletop exercises, members continue to engage in meaningful ways that help strengthen their organizations.

During the first half of the year, TCRMF recorded more than 350 member service interactions, demonstrating the ongoing value members place on Fund resources and expertise.

One of the biggest success stories continues to be Leadership Webinar participation. These sessions remain one of the most popular member offerings, providing practical leadership tools and strategies that supervisors can immediately apply in their organizations. Risk Control services, Program Management support, and Risk Consulting services also saw strong utilization throughout both quarters.

Member engagement was broad-based across the Fund. Large, medium, and small centers all participated in multiple service areas, showing that organizations of every size are finding value in the resources available to them.

Several centers stood out for their high levels of engagement, with many participating in five or more service categories during the second quarter alone. This level of involvement reflects a commitment to continuous improvement, professional development, and creating safer, stronger workplaces.

The data also reinforces an important trend: members are increasingly taking advantage of proactive services designed to prevent problems before they occur. Whether through leadership training, workplace safety initiatives, cybersecurity support, or risk consulting, members are investing in strategies that help reduce risk and improve outcomes for employees and the individuals they serve.

As we move into the second half of 2026, TCRMF will continue offering opportunities for members to connect, learn, and strengthen their organizations. We appreciate the partnership and engagement of our member centers and look forward to supporting your success throughout the remainder of the year.

Thank you for making TCRMF more than an insurance program. Your participation helps create a stronger, safer, and more connected membership community.
